President's Message - September 2011

The month of August seems to have flown by. If you haven't been diving yet this year you are missing out. We have had two great presentations this month, and more are scheduled in the future. Mike and Ellen Garvey gave an excellent talk, slide show and video on their recent trip to Sipidan in Malaysia. Seeing pictures of those big-schnozzed monkeys somehow reminded me of Babs Streisand. The slides of the large colorful nudies, tropical fish, and corals were very impressive.

Equally enjoyable was the presentation by Norman "Dugie" Russell on the U.S.S. New Hampshire, and the origins of the Essex County Dive Team. His artifacts, and hand crafted treasures truly are something to see. He has a new part time career as a comedian, which was plain to see with some of his quick one-liners. His mushroom business will be starting in the fall. I for one hope to get a chance to take his course, and learn to pick mushrooms in the wild.

Thanks to member contributions to our bug bag raffle, we were able to purchase at a great price from Bobby Boyle at Undersea Divers, a regulator. Our members should remember to drop in and frequent Bob's shop and thank him for all that he does for us. Bobby's year end sale is about a month away; it's a perfect time to check out discount gear, close outs, and used rental gear. I've got many great buys at these sales in the past.

I finally got out diving with Jim Durso, and his son Michael this past week. We left from Winter Island, and headed to Tinker's Ledge. The seas were calm, and visibility was excellent with views of Boston's skyline. Jim and Michael were first to head down the anchor line, and I followed them. Visibility was 15-20 feet, the max depth was 74 ft, and bottom temp was a cool 48F. I managed to grab 2 bugs, my first of the year! Jim came back with 1 bug, a crab, and a flounder. We tried a little fishing after the dive, but nothing was biting.

It was nice to see a blast from the past, former president Ted Huemmler, and Keith from the old Northeast Scuba "Scuba Jam" days. Those who attended recall the blowouts we had at Scuba Jams in the past. Keith and I recalled a bus trip I arranged with Barb Crisman to a Patriots game that 27 of us enjoyed. We had all the necessary items: a keg of beer, Mike Dennele's pitchers, and grills for cooking. The only thing the bus didn't have was a bathroom, so we stopped at a rest area. The rest area was closed, so we got to just hang out...

For Divers of the Month I select Mike and Ellen Garvey for their Sipidan presentation. For Member of the Month I choose Norman "Dugie" Russell for his New Hampshire, and Essex Count Dive Team talk. Hope to see more members at our upcoming meetings.

- Jim D at the Cape last Friday; pretty nice 20' vis looking for big fluke, saw one 17 1/2 inches, have to be 18.5 inches to keep. Went fishing from here last weekend, off P-town 1.5 hrs, saw about 50 whales off P-town; at one point he was surrounded by 5 whales. Caught 3 stripers, 3 cod and a pollock. (Legislature trying to change ban on spearfishing for stripers since they are so plentiful.)
- John F - dove Sat with Metro west; Sun dove for the fish count; dove with Jeff yesterday at Pebble. Parking is same as it always was, resident only where the road is not paved. Had whole place to themselves. 91 minute dive, got some big bugs - John found a 6" blue - over the gauge, barnacles on it. Kelp was short, only 33' at high tide, 60°F.
- Adam at Pebble 2 weeks ago, got 2 bugs at 18ft. Did 2 dives at Folly, left and right side, saw the torpedo ray on the right, all the sea ravens look big this year.
- Dan went snorkeling off Cocktail Cove on Misery Island, got a bug there. They're in shallow.

brother, found octopuses. Some of the wrecks are cut so you enter them.

- Al went diving, found a helicopter and a fire truck, at Dutch Springs. There were so many divers you'd bump into people. 1 woman there became an instructor without ever diving in the ocean.
- General Discussion:
- Mike's Moments:
 - 2.5 wks ago, couple of guys in Marshfield, drunk went into the breakwater, 1 was rescued, one not recovered, diver found the body. Survivor being brought up on drunken boating charges
 - Diver 27y/o, on the John Jack dove the Doria and didn't make it, found the body 7hours later
 - A woman caught a 500lb mako shark in Scituate
 - Rockland's Morse Diving - the people that make the Mark V diving helmet, oldest manufacturer of diving equipment in the world - is 175 this year
 - Century old shipwreck between Sweden and Finland, found large circular thing 60' diameter, convinced it's a UFO.
 - USCG off Honduras found 2.5 tons of cocaine and a drug sub, flying a C130 and noticed it in the water, 1st time off South America's west coast
 - URL for video in Alaska, some guy saw what looks like a loch ness monster. Mammal or reptile since it oscillates in the vertical plain (fish go horizontal plain).
 - It is Shark Week! A lot of the shows have stuff that's positive about sharks, Lauren has been pleased with shark week.
 - Mike Rowe was testing shark bite suit, best part was watching him get into the suit. Then he had to wait for his buddy to get dressed.
 - Guy who originally developed shark suit tested it on his wife.
 - Sharks hug with their mouths.

July 8-14 2012: Vermont Diving-Camping Week with Annette and Pat

Hi to all,

Annette and I had a great week [with the Froggies this past July], and from feedback it seems everyone who attended did as well.

In preparation for next year, (if the Froggies decide to come back to Vermont again) [editor's note: ARE YOU KIDDING???], Annette and I are looking at the week of July 8 – 14. It is a week earlier than this year.

So decide on whether or not you want to come back again and mark it in your calendars.

Best to all, Pat and Annette

NEADC Sept 21st General Meeting

Maryhelen Shuman-Groh: 'Greening' Your Dive Travel (from the NEADC program email)

Wherever it is that you decide to travel for SCUBA diving, you are headed to an environmentally sensitive area. The divers' adage of "Take only photos - Leave only bubbles" is no longer enough to ensure sustainability of our precious water resources. While no one can completely eliminate human impacts on the dive environment, there choices that you make to help reduce negative impacts when traveling. Starting with a brief overview of 'sustainability' and discussion selecting a dive destination, transportation choices, what to pack, how to spend your travel dollars to 'greenwashing' and 'eco-tourism' along with references for obtaining useful information, this talk will offer helpful suggestions for your dive travel.

Maryhelen Shuman-Groh has 20+ years dive experience and is a former NEAq Dive Team member and former officer of NEADC. She is currently based in Tampa Bay, Florida, at the University of South Florida and holds a Master's degree in Global Sustainability. She has been studying water resources in The Commonwealth of Dominica in conjunction with impacts of growing tourism industry there. Maryhelen has recently been selected as the Tampa Bay Green Living Examiner for Examiner.com.
