From the President's Slate

18-Feb-05
Greetings!,

I hope this month's newsletter finds everybody in Froggie Nation well and itching to get back in the water!

The months after the holidays are traditionally the time where one's interest in diving is at its lowest. Face it, the holidays have come and gone. If you got that special scuba toy, all you can do is look at it (or take it for a trial run in the tub). It really becomes a challenge to focus our attention on the sport we love so much. Fortunately, for this day and age, we have the internet to take us away to exotic locations or maybe drool at all the neat equipment we would buy only if we had the cash.

The winter season can actually be a blessing in disguise. It gives us an opportunity to rest and get ourselves back into shape for the exciting season ahead. Maybe those extra helpings of stuffing need to be coaxed off. Maybe that nagging ache in the shoulder needs to be looked at. Now is the time to do it.

And let's not forget our gear. Being slightly interested about being able to breath under water, it is a good idea to take in your gear for an annual checkup. If you got some new toys, try suiting up in the living room. You'll look foolish standing there with your gear, but better to do it there than down under.

The best way to sharpen your mind is by reading. There are some excellent diving books available now. If you haven't yet, you really must read Shadow Divers. This is one book that I could not seem to put down. Buoyancy, The Last Dive, and Deep Descent are just a few of the many excellent diving books. Although not a book about diving, I just finished Sudden Sea, a very well written book about the Great Hurricane of 1938.

If you really want to beat the winter blues, join us at the Franco each and every Thursday night. This past month we had a couple of fine Sea Hunt videos presented by Daryl Findlay. Many of our members attended the Boston Scuba Show in Marlboro. Cathy Church gave a fine presentation on underwater photography comparing digital vs. film. The first Bay State Council meeting of the year was held in February. John Ferrier keeps the schussers in our club busy by organizing ski trips to the northern New England.

With March approaching fast, we start off with the Boston Sea Rover's show. Always a great take, this is the best way to meet with many representatives in the diving industry face to face. On Saturday evening there is the film festival which is always wonderful. This annual weekend is a pure diving extravaganza with a plethora of diving lectures, seminars, and just plain fun. If you haven't been, why not come down to the Copley Plaza and check it out?

Also coming in March, we will be having a special presentation on Antarctica by our own Susan Copelas. We can expect more exciting adventures of Sea Hunt, too. Why not sign up for one of the last remaining ski trips with John Ferrier? Everyone will be wearing the green at this year's St. Patrick's Day party at Mary & Ray's.

For the latest up to date listing of all the North Shore Frogmen's activities, be sure to check out the events listing in this month's issue of Air Bubbles. Of course, for the "freshest" listings, go online to:

<http://www.geocities.com/nsfrogmen/activities.html>

We are eager to listen to any of your comments, concerns, and suggestions! Just send an email to: DiveTalk@hotmail.com and you WILL be heard!

Dive Talk:

- Jack Munro did an inspection dive for the town of Rockport, a visual on the sewer outflow pipe! 37°, 40 minutes, took many pictures. About 450 ft off Bearskin Neck.
- Susan Copelas – went to Antarctica via S. America. Did a couple of acclimatization dives in Falkland Islands, 50°F, and South Georgia, 37°F. Poor viz, lots of animal life. Huge seal population. Seals came right to her mask to check her out. Last guy out of the water was surrounded by 30+ seals. Also did a dive in 60' high kelp and got caught up trying to gather her fins, which she lost. Then to Antarctica. Most of those on board were u/w photographers, many of them shared their pictures with her so she plans to do a presentation for the club. Did some iceberg dives after careful selection of the "perfect" one. Ending her iceberg dive there was an emergency signal of engine revving from the boats.

Wind had picked up causing convergence of icebergs on boat & divers. Susan had to overcome fear of diving with aggressive leopard seals. Water temps were 28° to 29°F.

General Discussion:

- Mike's Moments
  - Animal rights people starting to go after fishermen. Some researchers say lobsters "don't feel pain."
  - Pulverized shrimp being used for all sorts of "low carb" applications such as "Lobster Cheetos".
  - Aircraft carrier as reef in Florida having trouble due to PCBs present.
  - Two lobster fishermen fined $17,600 for having shorts and eggars lost licenses for only 3 months!
- Dawn: Tom & Mary Murphy have just become grandparents.
- Six club members went skiing yesterday to Jay Peak, VT. Temp 40°F sunny & warm in morning. Sun went behind clouds at noon, temp dropped to 25° with 50mph wind.
- Five club members attended the Boston Scuba Show. Cathy Church was the featured speaker, talking about underwater photography and differences between film and digital photography.

Raffles: Dollars Box: Peter Cassidy
Mystery Prize: John Sears
Bug Bag: Ongoing –Genesis
Reg donated by Bob Boyle

Al Morris at Magnolia Rocks

Boston Scuba Show

Five members of the North Shore Frogmen's Club attended Fred Calhoun's Boston Scuba Show on February 12 in Marlborough. After a panel discussion on the meaning of and training for "Technical Diving", we were entertained by a very lively discussion on underwater photography by Cathy Church. She discussed various subjects including digital vs. film photography, camera settings and how to use natural lighting, and placement of strobe lighting.

Dive Trip to Antarctica

On Thursday, March 24, Susan Copelas will give a presentation on her recent dive trip to Antarctica. This presentation will be right after an abbreviated meeting. This will be a presentation not to be missed!

Dues are Due!

Don't forget that your 2005 membership dues are due during the month of January. Any dues not received by March will be considered delinquent.

Dues for a regular single membership are $42 per year, $63 for a couple. Associate Member dues are $21.

Check with Treasurer Ray Porter for your current status.

Your article could be published here in the April issue if you submit it before
March 21

Treasury Notes

By Ray Porter

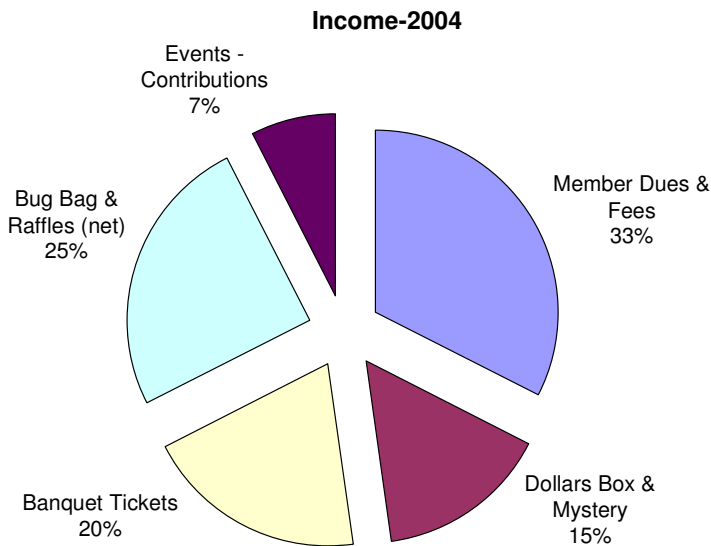

As the club's new treasurer, I have decided to write a series of messages related to the club's finances. I previously held the post of secretary, so maybe I still feel the need to make my monthly submittal to Air Bubbles. I still feel the urge to take notes when dive talk begins, even though I only need to write out the bank deposit slip.

First, I want to thank Rich Kinkade for his four years of service to the club as treasurer. He was a good steward of the club's finances. Rich attended nearly all club meetings and faithfully reported the club's account balances. As secretary, I did not record the amounts for they were said with such confidence and precision I was sure they were right. After reviewing the records for 2004 I am completely assured the office was in good hands.

I would also like to thank John Sears for his efforts last year with arranging for the Bug Bag Prizes and for coordinating the Annual Banquet. The Bug Bag Prize is a significant part of the club's income and the Annual Banquet is the largest event the club sponsors. So John's diligent efforts contributed greatly to the club's success.

Which of course leads to Bob Boyle of Undersea Divers. Bob's continued contributions to the club through Bug Bag Prizes and Annual Banquet ticket purchases are much appreciated. Undersea Diver has again this year provided the club with a regulator for raffle at Sea Rovers. Please return Bob's kindness by patronizing Undersea Divers.

The figure below shows the sources of income for 2004. Members, particularly active members, are what make the club a success. Dues alone only accounted for 33% of last year's income. The rest comes from the active members who attend regular meetings and contribute to the dollars box, participate in the raffles or engage in club events (canoe trip, seal dive or Annual Banquet).

Last year the club had 60 members: 4 officers, 14 life members and 42 regular members. Your continued support is needed for the club to grow and thrive. Support the club not only with your dues, but join us at a meeting, club event or maybe even dive. If you have not been around in a while, please come by, we would love to hear about your diving adventures.

Yes, dues are due. But, your continued involvement is even more valuable to us. As our promotional flyer says, "Join Us for a Cold One."

Boston Sea Rovers 51st Annual International Underwater Clinic

When: March 5-6, 2005
Where: Fairmont Copley Plaza, Boston
Times: Saturday seminars 9AM-5PM
Saturday evening film festival 8-10:30PM
Sunday seminars 9:30AM-5PM

If you have never been to the Boston Sea Rovers Clinic in Boston, you owe it to yourself to check it out this year. During the day on Saturday and Sunday there are seminars going on in three different halls. The topics of these 40 plus seminars range from wreck diving to free diving, from underwater photography to creating artificial reefs from decommissioned navy ships, and discussions of diving from Ireland to the south Pacific. Steve Drogin will be there to talk about his diving in Indonesia during the Tsunami!

While the seminars are going on in other parts of the hotel, one large ballroom is turned into an exhibit hall full of information and demonstrations. Exhibitors include dive gear manufacturers, dive shops, underwater photo equipment shops, dive vacation travel agents, etc. The local dive clubs – including yours! – will have their booths on the balcony overlooking this display. Come by for a while to support your club and help man the booth so others can attend some of the seminars.

The Saturday Evening Film Festival will feature Al Giddings, Norbert Wu and Stan Waterman. This show in particular is always spectacular, and event not to be missed.

Tickets are sold for the Saturday seminars, the Sunday seminars and the Film Festival, separately or in combinations. For prices and more information, check out the Boston Sea Rovers website at www.bostonsearovers.com. Access to the exhibit hall is free.

PS – This is where I won the Giant Ocean Tank dive a couple of years ago, and where Michael Donovan won the trip on a Live Aboard in Belize that he has just returned from. (He did return, didn't he???) So you might come away with more than just information!!!

Mary Howard

Saint Patrick's Day Party

Hi All,

I will be hosting the Froggy Saint Patrick's Day Party at my house again this year. It will be on the Saturday BEFORE Saint Patrick's Day, March 12, and the start time will be 6PM, to ....? I will provide Corned Beef and Cabbage, and will also plan to make some Irish Soda Bread. Please supplement this diet with salads, hors d'oeuvres, desserts, and your own choice of beverage, and come "a-wearin' o' the green!" Be prepared to toast the "dead ancestors". Bring a dead ancestor (or, preferably an image thereof) to put on the mantle next to the Irish Whisky.

Address: 529 Franklin Street, Reading, MA.

Phone: 781-944-1292

Directions:

From 95/128 south: Take Rte 95/128 to exit 40/Rte 129. Follow the rotary somewhat less than half way around and follow Rte 129 (Mandarin Reading restaurant will be on your right, REI will be on your left) into Reading center. Pass the big white church on your right, and continue out of the center of town. At the first light after the town center (approx 1 mile), bear right onto Grove Street. In ¾ of a mile, turn right onto Franklin Street. Our house is the 4th one, antique colonial.

From 93: Take Rte 93 to exit 38/Rte 129. If you are coming from the south, take a left off the exit towards Reading. If you are coming from the north, you will take a right off the exit towards Reading. At the first light, take a sharp left onto Grove Street. In ¾ of a mile, turn right onto Franklin Street. Our house is the 4th one, antique colonial.

MAKING OF "SHARKS OF THE OCEAN DESERT" FOR NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC CHANNEL AND AN UNDERWATER 3D SLIDE PRESENTATION TO BENEFIT OCEANIC RESEARCH GROUP

WHEN: Saturday, April 2, 2005

WHERE: Nevins Hall, 150 Concord Street, Framingham, Massachusetts

TIME: Events begin at 6:30 P.M.

ADMISSION: Free. Donations will be gladly accepted.

A behind the scenes look at making "Sharks of the Ocean Desert" for National Geographic and an underwater 3D slide show highlight the third annual benefit for Oceanic Research Group, Inc. (ORG)

Jonathan Bird, president of Oceanic Research Group, Inc. will present a look at the making of his current film for National Geographic called "Sharks of the Ocean Desert." The presentation will show finished segments of the film, and then Bird will discuss how these segments were filmed and produced using behind the scenes footage as well as slides.

Eddd Jameson, world-renown underwater 3D photographer will show some of his best underwater images. The audience will wear 3D glasses to see the world from a fish's perspective. From the tiniest invertebrates to dolphins and sharks, Eddd's 3D photography will really jump out at you!

There will also be raffles and silent auctions for many land and water based items.

The benefit is being held to raise money for the Streaming Video Project, which will make ORG's library of award-winning underwater educational videos available free to schools and other educational institutions over the internet.

Oceanic Research Group is a 501(c)(3), non-profit, environmental organization dedicated to the conservation of the world's oceans and marine life through education. Its primary activity is producing documentaries and educational videos for both the broadcast and the school markets.

ORG has produced twelve educational films for classroom use, including "CORAL REEFS: RAINFORESTS OF THE SEA" and

"ADAPTATIONS FOR SURVIVAL IN THE SEA" that will be digitized and streamed on the Web. ORG has also produced three broadcast documentaries that are in domestic and international distribution. ORG has received three CINDY Awards, a CINE Golden Eagle Award, and a KIDS FIRST! endorsement for its educational films, and two New England Emmy Awards for its broadcast features on WCVB-TV's Chronicle.
